

LYCO runs two annual events that you may be interested in:

Winter Orchestral Workshop:

This is a residential camp for full orchestra, held at Camp Clayton on the North-West Coast usually over the first weekend of the school winter holiday.

The repertoire is usually a major symphony with other smaller fun pieces added in.

Full details and application form can be found on the LYCO website:

www.lyco.org.au/wow

Residential Summer String Camp:

As the name suggests this is a residential camp for string players of all ages and abilities, held at Camp Clayton for 7 days during the school summer holidays.

It attracts players, conductors and tutors from our own State of Tasmania, from interstate and overseas.

A week of improving string technique, making friends and having great fun!

More details and application forms can be found on the LYCO website:

www.lyco.org.au/rssc

LYCO also provides its members with the opportunity to play in small ensembles in aged-care facilities and community events.

Launceston Youth and Community Orchestra Inc. acknowledges the continuing support of

Barratts Music,
St John Street, Launceston.

Supported by the Tasmanian Community Fund.

The Residential Summer String
Camp is supported by

Tasmanian Mountain Waters

Launceston
Youth
&
Community
Orchestra
(LYCO)

exists so that people of all ages and musical abilities can enjoy playing orchestral music together.

LYCO is a not-for-profit organisation and is run entirely by volunteers.

LYCO runs three orchestras and welcomes musicians of all ages and skill levels:

Piccolo Strings: (beginner strings)

Almost any violin, viola, cello or double bass player may join the LYCO's introductory string orchestra. If you can play a D major and G major scale, and read music in those keys, you can play with the Piccolo Strings.

Intermezzo Strings: (intermediate strings)

The music for this intermediate string orchestra may range from E \flat to A major and C to F \sharp minor (3 flats to 3 sharps). You should be able to play in these keys up to third position (violins and violas) or fourth position (cellos).

Launceston Symphony Orchestra:

As the name implies, this orchestra contains strings, woodwind, brass and percussion. The music may be in almost any key, and use most of the playable range of each instrument.

LYCO's Musical Director: Margaret Hoban

phone: 0403 155 852

Some of our members joined after playing their instrument for only a few weeks; others have been playing for decades!

Rehearsals:

The orchestras meet on Friday evenings during term times as follows:

Piccolo and Intermezzo: 4-15 - 5:15pm

LSO: 5:30 - 7:30pm

Full details of the dates can be found on the LYCO website.

Concerts:

LYCO presents two concerts each year, a celebration of all of the hard work that has gone on during the previous rehearsals.

Details of the next concert will be on the LYCO website.

Admission is free!

Come, bring your friends and see what is going on right here in Launceston!

City Baptist Church is a wonderful venue to play in. The stage is large and the acoustics are fantastic!

Venue:

All of our rehearsals and concerts are held at City Baptist Church, 11 Frederick Street, Launceston.

Fees:

The general fees are listed on the LYCO website, and in greater detail on the application form. Concession rates, family reductions and payments by instalments are all available.
